

John Donne Society Award

The John Donne Society is pleased to announce the 1998 recipient of the "John Donne Society Award for Distinguished Publication in Donne Studies":

Kate Gartner Frost, "'Preparing towards her': Contexts of A Nocturnall upon S. Lucies Day," in *John Donne's "desire of more":
The Subject of Anne More Donne in His Poetry*, edited by M. Thomas Hester
(Newark: Univ. of Delaware Press, 1996).

Call for Essays

"Yes, Virginia, there really is a John Donne."

Donne and Virginia

Submission is invited for papers on any aspect of the topic—Donne's images of America in his poetry and prose, the contexts of Donne's images and attitudes towards the New World, etc. But the primary focus of attention in the collection of essays will be Donne's "images" of America. Completed papers only will be considered for acceptance, but abstracts are welcome for initial consideration and response prior to the announced deadline for completed papers. An academic press has already expressed interest in this collection.

Deadline extended to December 1, 2000.

To: M. Thomas Hester
Box 8105
Raleigh, N.C. 27695-8105.